Dear Carrollton Community,

It is with great hope and gratitude that I attach Carrollton’s plan for re-opening our campuses for the 2020-21 academic year. This plan represents the thoughtful and diligent work of many in our community. Teams of faculty, staff, and parents in the medical profession have worked in close collaboration with our administration to develop a plan to address and promote the safety, health and welfare of our community. I am most grateful to all who participated in this hard work, and the many more who offered to help.

At Carrollton we believe that teaching, learning, and formation are relational. Thus, the ideal teaching and learning environment is one in which students and teachers are able to interact with each other face-to-face. We also recognize the vital importance of creating a campus environment that addresses the health and safety concerns of our students, faculty and staff. The attached Return to School Plan seeks to do both, providing a roadmap for our community to follow in the months ahead.

This plan is also designed to allow us to adapt our teaching in accordance with the changing conditions of the pandemic. As conditions and guidelines continue to evolve and change, we will monitor and update plans accordingly. I ask that you remain flexible to the changing situation, as we continue to work during the summer to make decisions about how the school day will look in the fall.

While it is difficult to predict the ways in which our current health context might change in the future, one thing is constant – our steadfast commitment to the ongoing formation and learning of our students, guided by the Goals and Criteria. We cannot wait to see your daughters again, and we look forward to a successful year of growth ahead.

With hope and gratitude,
Olen
